DEMOCRACY AND FREE SILVER.

If the opinions of Eastern Republican newspapers are worth anything the election of Cleveland is likely to result in the passage of a free coinage bill. The New York Press, the leading Republican newspaper of the Empire State, in its issue of October 31st, has the following on the subject:

"It is notorious that General Stevenson, the Democratic Vice Presidential candidate, is an ardent advocate of the unlimited issue of seventy-cent silver dollars. It is extremely probable that Mr. Cleveland who has violated his most solemn public pledges by an ignominious surrender to Tammany Hall, would, if elected President, surrender, as completely overwhelming Democratic sentiment in favor of free silver coinage. Business men and wage earners will do well to remember that, although the Democratic platform did not demand free coinage as it demanded a return to willcat currency, the passage of a free coinage law is absolutely certain in case of Democratic success.

"The record of the Democracy in the present Congress shows this. On March 25, 1892, the Democrats of the Fifty-second House voted on the Bland free silver bill as follows: Democrats for free silver, 130 Democrats against free silver, 81

Democratic majority for silver, 49 "When the Stewart Free Silver bill, a measure for debasing the currency, even more reckless than the Bland bill, was before the United States Senate, three fourths of the Democrats were for it. Here is the record on the Stewart bill, taking into account the Democratic pairs with Republicans who were against the crazy measure: Democratic Senators for free silver 30 Democratic Senators against silver 10

Democratic majority for silver, 20 "Democratic triumph means swamping the country with degraded dollars as surely as it means the prostration of American industry through the free admission of foreign pauper made goods."

The New York Press was the most radical supporter of Harrison in the United States in the recent campaign. It shows as conclusively as it can be shown that the argument advanced by Republican papers in the State that Harrison and his party favored free coinage, was absolutely false.

The issue in New York, according to the above, was on the silver question as much as on the tariff question, and the verdict of the people in that State last Tuesday was for the party which the Press says is for free coinage.

A PREDICTION.

The past speaks to the present and foretells the future.

The Pathfinder in '56 blazed the trail which, in '60, led the Rail Splitter to the White House. Wendell Phillips spoke and John Brown died for the people in bondage, and Fremont proclaimed Lincoln too late to avert the inevitable struggle between the States.

In '92 a "Weaver" has spun a cloth of silver so closely woven that its folds will span the gap of years between '92 and '96.

The Omaha platform will endure so long as Knights of Labor brace its timbers with such stuff as Powderly is made of.

Four months exposure to the warring elements has seasoned its planks. Its silver bands will hold. William M. Stewart will lead the people of the West and South to a glorious victory on a field of the cloth of silver in 1896.

Let those who deem my prophecy absurd remember 1792 in France. Surprises were then preparing for the conservatives of the Eastern hemisphere. Their history is written in blood.

May the record of 1893 to 1896 in our Western world be less lurid in its line - is the hope of the People's party. Yet surprises are in store for the conservatives of America. The pens of Bellamy and Donnelly, and the voices of Powderly and Mary Lease plead with the masses. Forbear till 1896 and we will elect as President of the United States the silver-haired Senator from Nevada.
